ALL SORTS.

—Ladies' purses at Geo. Thaxter's
—Recamier Cream at Thaxter's Drug Store.
—Remember the peg race at the Rink tonight.

—Hem-stitched Silk Handkerchiefs, twenty-five cents a piece, at Olcovich Bros.

—Small pox has become epidemic in San Francisco. It is the fault of the "dollar limit" crowd.

—The powers of Europe are all talking peace, and laying in an extra supply of powder as well.

—Yesterday afternoon, about 5 o'clock, a snow slide occurred near Lake View, and destroyed several hundred feet of the Virginia and Gold Hill water pipe.

—Physicians prescribe Ayer's Sarsaparilla in cases of scrofula, and in every form of chronic disease, because this medicine is safer to take, and is more highly concentrated, than any other preparation. It can always be depended upon as an effective blood purifier.

—Popular Science says: Investigations concerning the effects of different forms or artificial illumination upon the health have shown that the tallow candle is the most unwholesome agent and the electric light is the best. The incandescent electric light produces only about 1.30 as much heat as the tallow candle while it gives out no carbonic acid or water. One gas-jet in a room is said to vitiate the air as much as six persons.

Monte Cristo.

The Daily Statesman, of Walla Walla, W. T., thus speaks of the Lewis presentation of Monte Cristo in that place Dec. 12:

"The performance of Monte Cristo by the Horace Lewis Co., Saturday night was a revelation to our theater-goers, who have seen Grismer in the same piece. The performance is so different, and those who had the good fortune to see Chas. Fecther, the only great Monte Cristo, will readily recognize and appreciate Mr. Lewis' efforts to make the character what it should be—a subtle and intense performance. The Nottier of Mr. Taylor was worthy his reputation, and the entire performance was most enjoyable. The scenery is worthy special mention."

Hard Luck.

Abe Cohn of this city, originally held the lucky number that drew the recent fifth prize of the Louisiana Lottery. Abe has been supplying numerous Carson boys with tickets and had his monthly customers, but forgot one, and sold all he had with the exception of five, these for himself. A Mr. St. John wanted five, and did not like the idea of being left, so Mr. Cohn sold him five and purchased five for himself elsewhere. The result was that Mr. St. John won on Abe's five tickets.

Jewelry! Jewelry!

M. M. Frederick, of the Nevada Jewelry Manufactory, of Virginia, Nev., again invites the citizens of Carson and vicinity to call and inspect his immense and well selected stock of Jewelry, Watches, Diamonds and optical goods, suitable for Holiday Gifts. By purchasing of the above establishment you will save many dollars, and be well pleased with your selections made from my stock.

Another Ore Vein.

Another vein of ore was cut in the face of the Winnemucca Mining Company's tunnel Tuesday evening, says The Silver State. The ore is principally chloride, but as it has not yet been assayed it is not known how much gold and silver it contains. It begins to look as if the late Prof. Stewart was right when he pronounced Winnemucca Mountain one of the richest mineralized belts in the State.

Crocker's Daughter Dead.
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30th.—A daughter of B. R. Crocker, who was seriously injured by being thrown from his buggy on San Fernando street ten days ago, died here today. She has been ill only a day or two, having come down from Sacramento with her mother to be with her father during his illness.

A CLOSE SHAVE.

A Pine Nut Teamster Almost Frozen.

Night before last a six-horse team came into Keyser & Elrod's hay yard about 11 o'clock, hauling wood from Pine Nut. The driver sat motionless on the seat, and when a man who went out with a lantern called to him he made no reply. An investigation showed that the man, whose name was Bamba Celis, was insensible from cold, and was sitting stiff on his seat.

He was at once lifted down off his wagon, and several men taking him into the office began to bathe him in cold water and rub him with their hands. In half an hour he was conscious, and yesterday morning was able to be about.

He says he left Pine Nut in the afternoon, and was not sensible of much cold until he neared Cradlebaugh's bridge, when he concluded he would stop and warm himself. He recollects nothing more than this, and the probabilities are that he was insensible when he reached the bridge, and the horses came right on and landed him in the hay yard, where they had always been in the habit of going.

THE MAXWELL CASE.

Strong Feeling in Genoa Against Young Maxwell.

Last week, in Genoa, Mrs. Maxwell, an old lady with considerable property, died very suddenly. An inquest was held, and it was developed that the day before her death she received a severe beating at the hands of her son, John Maxwell.

Her neck showed marks of choking, her arm was bruised, and her abdomen was covered with bruises, where she had been repeatedly kicked. It was shown that these blows were administered by her son and it was also in evidence that for years past the son had been in the habit of beating his mother to extort money from her.

Medical testimony was introduced to show that she died from natural causes, and not from the beating received.

The jury exonerated Maxwell and brought in a verdict charging him with assault. Since the verdict the feeling is very strong against Maxwell in Genoa, and the citizens say they do not propose to see the case end in this way. At last accounts Maxwell was still at large.

THE STORM.

The Snow-fall General Over the Coast.

The snow storm has extended all over the Coast, and a good portion of the United States. Enough has fallen in the mountains to ensure a good supply of water next Summer, and the farmers, miners and mill-men are all in good spirits. The railroads alone have cause to grumble. The trains are late in every direction. The usual blockade is prevailing on the C. P. At least six feet of snow has fallen at Summit on the C. P.

At Deming, on the Southern Pacific, over 500 freight cars are laid up. The snow plows are all hard at work on the C. P., and every available engine is pushed into the service.

The V. & T. sent some extra engines down to the C. P. a few days ago. It is reported that Harry Rice, engineer of one of the locomotives, worked until he was exhausted, and is now lying in Sacramento, quite sick.

There has been some delay on the C. & C. and V. & T., but the road is being rapidly cleared, and the trains will be running on schedule time today.

"WITH BUBBLING GROAN!"
A Fatal Sense of Security Awfully Realized at Sea.

"A wet sheet and a flowing sea, a breeze that follows fast."
From his look-out the faithful old captain of yonder merchantman casts an uneasy glance at the distant horizon. See! yonder a small speck of cloud "no larger than a man's hand." He watches it with his piercing eye for a few moments, then reaches for his long eyeglass. To his experienced view, this harmless little cloud betokens danger.

Across his bronzed face there comes a look of determination, and, with quick orders to the seamen, the craft is put about and all sail made for the nearest harbor, where in apparent safety the anchor is dropped, and the hardy mariners watch the approaching storm with defiance!

The storm bursts!
The decks have been cleared, the sails close furled, and all ordinary preparations made for an emergency. The storm increases but all seems safe.

But see! the vessel gives a sudden lurch, turns quickly about, and away she goes!

The anchor chain has broken!
This mighty ship might have ridden safely, but for one weak link in that anchor chain!

The strength of the chain is no greater than the strength of its weakest link.

On the sea of life, how many men are wrecked because of the unsuspected weakness of a link in the chain of health,—one weak vital organ in the body.

The mystery of death is even greater than the mystery of life. We think the links of our chain are strong, but we too seldom critically examine them for ourselves, and never really know that they will bear the strain that we put upon them.

"I have a friend," said Dr. Rio Lewis, "who can lift 900 pounds, and yet is an habitual sufferer from kidney and liver trouble and low spirits." The doctor who was one of the wisest and safest public teachers of the laws of health, wrote:

"The very marked testimonials from college professors, respectable physicians, and other gentlemen of intelligence and character, to the value of Warner's safe cure, have greatly surprised me. Many of these gentlemen I know, and reading their testimony, I was impelled to purchase some bottles of Warner's safe cure and analyze it. Besides I took some, swallowing three times the prescribed quantity. I am satisfied that the medicine is not injurious, and will frankly add that if I found myself the victim of a series of kidney trouble I should use this preparation."

One year ago the Servia, while in a great storm, parted her two-inch rudder chain,—no wonder,—it was rusted through! The key to human health is the condition of the kidneys, and they may long be diseased and we be ignorant of the fact, because they give forth little or no pain. They in reality cause the majority of all the deaths, by polluting the blood and sending disease all through the system.

The Reading Coal Trouble.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30th.—The strike is not off. No work is going on at Port Richmond and all trains on the Shamokin division are tied up. At 1:30 P. M. the Port Richmond men began to side-track the trains as they came in, and at 2 o'clock seven trains had been side-tracked. Work on the shipping wharves is suspended.

The call for a Reading Railroad Employees Convention to meet at Reading to-day for the purpose of adopting aggressive measures against the company has not created much excitement and the indications are that it will be lightly attended. The miners will be most largely represented. The fact that about thirty members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers obtained engines held by the Knights has made the feeling between these parties very bitter.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—President Corbin of the Reading Road sent a letter to General Manager McLeod this morning in which he says that those who leave the company's employ in obedience to the Knights or any other organization will never be taken back. He does not object to employees joining organizations, but they must consider their duty to the company first. He further says the company had nothing to arbitrate.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The Post's Reading special says that the action of the miners to-night will largely depend on President Corbin's decision concerning the continuance of the 8 per cent advance after January 1st. They will strike if it is decided that they must fall back to the basis of wages paid last September. Over one thousand men on the Reading system have been discharged because of connection with the strike.

—A toilet luxury in every respect, Ayer's Hair Vigor never fails to restore the youthful freshness and color to faded and gray hair. It also eradicates dandruff and prevents the hair from falling.
